

3-Day-Workshop Train-The-Trainer Program

Deliver and Design Training that gets Results!

2022

Course dates on the backside

TrainSmart's IBCT (International Board of Certified Trainers) certified three-day workshop provides learners new ideas and proven methodologies to create and deliver training that gets results! This workshop utilizes real life situations and practice opportunities to develop and enhance your delivery and design skills.

What to Expect

Using a topic of your choice, participants create a design plan that organizes the training topics and incorporates activities that engage the learner and meet the learning objectives. Participants practice delivery skills and manage classroom challenges. The final day culminates in a recorded practice session accompanied with feedback and coaching from our expert facilitator, as well as the audience.

You will Learn

- To apply best practices on preparing, delivering, managing a training session
- To apply key concepts of adult learning; learning styles; developmental stages and active and passive learning applies to the learner's selected project or workshop
- To design a training plan and incorporate instructional strategies based on instructional design models
- To develop clear, concise learning objectives and goals
- To use personal communication styles to impact training delivery and audience comprehension
- To make concepts engaging using the latest industry techniques

What others have said

"The BEST of all TTTs that I've ever attended. It really helps you on how to prepare to teach different types of learners, differences in cultures and audiences, and take into account your audience to ensure an effective training session."

Marina, Intuit

"This program benefits all levels of trainers – seasoned trainers, with years of experience; those at the beginning of their training role, subject matter experts responsible for transferring their knowledge to others, and those, like me, who are trying to break into the profession. I would even recommend this course to instructional designers because it would help them to design training solutions."

Mary Frances, Tiffany & Co.

"I thought that the program was excellent. It addressed many points that I can use in my everyday jobs and future training sessions."

Jason, Nine Energy Services
