TrainSmart's IBCT (International Board of Certified Trainers) certified three-day workshop provides learners new ideas and proven methodologies to create and deliver training that gets results! This workshop utilizes real life situations and practice opportunities to develop and enhance your delivery and design skills.

What to Expect

Using a topic of your choice, participants create a design plan that organizes the training topics and incorporates activities that engage the learner and meet the learning objectives. Participants practice delivery skills and manage classroom challenges. The final day culminates in a recorded practice session accompanied with feedback and coaching from our expert facilitator, as well as the audience.

You will Learn

- To apply best practices on preparing, delivering, managing a training session
- To apply key concepts of adult learning; learning styles; developmental stages and active and passive learning applies to the learner's selected project or workshop
- To design a training plan and incorporate instructional strategies based on instructional design models
- To develop clear, concise learning objectives and goals
- To use personal communication styles to impact training delivery and audience comprehension
- To make concepts engaging using the latest industry techniques

What others have said

"One of the best Training of Trainers programs I've ever attended. Cindy is an exceptional instructor: engaging, knowledgeable, and genuinely invested in every participant's success. I left Nashville feeling inspired, confident, and excited to put what I learned into practice."

Liliana Dinu

"I really enjoyed this training and found tremendous value in it. Having it in person with such a small group really let us fully immerse ourselves in the content. Cindy was an excellent facilitator and did a great job providing content that was more than just following a textbook."

Kelly Campbell

"I truly enjoyed this 3 days training and I am grateful for my training instructor Ms. Elana. She was very professional, warm welcoming and delivered the content exceptionally. I had high expectations from this training and they were all met and I left more confident than I ever was. This training motivated me and gave me tools to perfect my training and deliver skills. Thank you Train Smart for a great and rewarding experience."

Kitchandra McDonald

"I thoroughly enjoyed the Train-the-Trainer course with TrainSMART. The instructor, Michelle, was fantastic. She's extremely knowledgeable and provided great recommendations for making the courses my team offers more „learner-centric“. I know the skills learned in this course will be an immediate return on investment for my organization. I highly recommend this course for all facilitators looking to strengthen their skills."
